The fact that the Medical College of Pennsylvania ever existed is a testament to the courage of a handful of people who believed in the intellectual equality of women, their right to an education and the contributions they could make to improve the human condition through the practice of medicine. When the Female Medical College opened almost 150 years ago, the myth of inferior female intelligence and physical frailty was promoted by many segments of society, including the male-dominated medical community.

Although eighteen other institutions opened to educate female physicians by 1890, they closed due to financial difficulties, mergers and dismantling by university programs or simple lack of support. For a period of seventy years, from 1899 to 1969, our institution was the only women's medical college in the Western hemisphere. Our school has survived prejudice, World Wars, the Depression and social upheaval, and has always represented the interests of women in medicine in a unique and fervent manner. The history of the Medical College of Pennsylvania is a long, rich one – much too great to convey in eight pages. Having said this, the following is a pictorial tribute in appreciation of the humble, yet incredible early years of our soon-to-be Alma Mater.

The charter for the Female Medical College of Pennsylvania was approved March 11, 1850 making it the first medical school for the sole purpose of educating women. The first classes were held at 227 Arch Street on October 12, 1850, with eight candidates for MD and six students at the Homeopathic Medical College (now Hahnemann). We have a tie with Hahnemann dating back 148 years! In 1861, a house was rented on North College Avenue for $300 a year to serve as the hospital for women in medicine. Circa 1867, the name was changed from the Female Medical College to the Woman's Medical College to maintain uniformity of nomenclature with the Woman's Hospital teaching site.

The holder of this ticket is entitled to attend the lectures in the departments countersigned by the respective professors, but the ticket is not evidence of attendance unless endorsed to that effect by the Dean of the College.

UPPER LEFT: Tuition stub for fourth year's courses. The cost - $100; UPPER RIGHT: Ticket for the instruction in practical anatomy. The back would have the signature of the professor as dissections were successfully completed; ABOVE LEFT AND RIGHT: The front and back of a third-year exam ticket. This was to be presented for application to advanced standing. The back of the ticket was signed by the respective professors entitling the holder to attend the lectures.

Fees in 1850 were $10 per professor of which there were six, matriculation fee was $5, and graduation fee was $15. Initially, there were two sessions of three months each, after students had completed two years of training with a medical preceptor prior to entering medical school. This began to change in 1874, when the foundation for a three-year course was laid. Instead of private instruction in the office of a practitioner, a college preceptorship would be required. By 1885, a traditional three-year curriculum was in place. The first "memorization" year included the study of anatomy and histology, as well as the commitment to memory of lists of pneumonia therapies. The second year emphasized "learning to think" and consisted mostly of physiology. The senior, third year taught medicine, surgery, and Obstetrics & Gynecology. The last program was among the most progressive in the United States, pioneering in prenatal care.

The early years of medical school didn't seem too much different than today with time spent between lectures and labs. The Women's Medical College in the 19th century differed from co-ed institutions in its dedication to teaching women all aspects of medicine. In other institutions, women were sometimes made to sit behind screens for modesty. Another prominent medical institution did not permit women to examine men below the neck.

Clinical instruction has always been the mainstay of medical education at MCP. By 1869, WMC students attended the clinics of Wills Eye Hospital. Also, Dean Marshall established a South Philadelphia Out-Obstetric Clinic. In 1896 it became a maternity hospital, where senior medical students personally attended to eight obstetric patients as a requirement for graduation.

Did someone say free time? The facilities may have changed, but studying has remained the time consuming factor for all students. Of course, there has to be time off for relaxation; be it sparring with swords, playing a little basketball, or these days, hanging out at Arena's. The goal during all stages of our school's history was the graduation of well-rounded physicians who could enjoy other aspects of life outside the hospital.

The female Medical College was an international endeavor from the first announcement of the Opening Session in 1850. The first foreign graduate, Frances Mitchell, responded to a printing of this FMC advertisement in England. Students would come from all over the world for the opportunity to study medicine. In addition, by 1860, Alumnae were pursuing postgraduate education in such prestigious institutions as the Ecole de Medicine in France.

Sincerest thanks to the staff at the Archives and Special Collections at MCP Quarters: Joann, Barbara and Peggy. A very special thanks to Barbara for re-arranging her schedule to help. The knowledge we have gained from preparing this section is minimal in comparison to that of Dr. Steven Peitzman. Our deepest thanks to Dr. Peitzman for providing the guidance and access to his galleys of the history of MCP.

The editors also wish to thank Kathy L. Galla-Elizeus for her outstanding history of MCP in the 1995 latrian, which we used as a resource for this section.

Women were considered too frail and delicate for the “serious” practice of medicine. An early niche was found in caring for women and children and underserved populations. In the late 1800’s and early 1900’s, some graduates went on to become medical missionaries all over the world. Today, all fields of medicine are open to women thanks to the struggles of past WMCP graduates. Let us never forget the debt of gratitude we owe to our predecessors.

Imhotep, the true "Father of Medicine" Sir William Osler called him, "The first
from the mists of antiquity".

"The Negroes of today are very much in need of physicians who in their professional work will live up to what they are taught in school, and will build upon their foundation by both experience and further training. In his segregated position in the ghetto the Negro health problem presents more difficulties than that of the whites who are otherwise circumstanced. The longevity of the Negro depends in part upon the supply of Negro physicians and nurses who will address themselves unselfishly to the solution of this particular problem."

Dr. Carter G. Woodson, 1933
The Mis-Education of the Negro

THERE GOES AN ALPHA MAN

*There goes a man of high impulse
Of princely mien and grace
There goes a man of humble faith
A credit to his race
There goes a man of conscience vast
With will to reach his goal
There goes a man of lordly rank
Of heroes' stock and soul—*

*There goes a man of noble caste
Whom duty won't forsake
There goes a man in cultured verse
Who holds a sportsman's creed
There goes a man too vigilant
To bow to lust or greed
There goes a man whose life is spent in service not in scorn
There goes a man whose majesty Shines like a May time morn.*

*There goes a man who is a friend
To love and duty truth
There goes a man to help uplift
The lives of wholesome
youth
There goes a man with industry and faith at his command.
There goes the best man in and out
For he is an Alpha Man.*

would like to thank all those who share this achievement.

My parents for their sacrifice to provide me with emotional and financial support as well as their endless devotion and love.

My best friend, my soul mate, my love, Jim, for his understanding and unconditional support.

My grandparents who live in my memory always.

My extended family for their unwavering faith.

The patients and educators I have encountered for helping me realize that the most important part of medicine can be holding a hand and lending an ear.

My classmates and friends for traveling this arduous path beside me. To them I wish the best of luck wherever life's journey leads them.

Finally, the Almighty Spirit which answers my prayers.

Tammie C. Ferringer-Barker, M.D.

Mom and Dad, your gentle and hardworking way have always been an inspiration to me. Sean and Kevin, Aunt B and John, you made me laugh, offered me advice, and never stopped believing in me. I love you all and thank God for such a family. (Dad, you can finally call me "doc"!)

"You never really know someone until you have been their friend." . . . Thanks to friends and family alike for your unconditional support and faith. Kelly, you've been a friend that I giggle with, confide in, respect and admire. We did it!!

The practice of medicine will be very much as you make it - to one a worry, a care, a perpetual annoyance; to another, a daily job and a life of as much happiness and usefulness as can well fall to the lot of man, because it is a life of self-sacrifice and of countless opportunities to comfort and help the weak-hearted, and to raise up those that fall.

To laugh often and much;
to win the respect of intelligent people and the affection of children;
to earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends;
to appreciate beauty; to find the best in others;
to leave the world a bit better, whether by a healthy child, a garden patch or a redeemed social condition;
to know even one life has breathed easier
because you have lived.
This is to have succeeded.

First, I'd like to begin by thanking God and my parents, Asad and Halima Ishoof. It has been a long journey, almost like a crystal stair, but still I kept climbing. Whatever it is in this life we accomplish we do it while standing on the backs of those who came before us. Their struggle meant I struggled less. For this I am forever grateful. I'm also grateful for the love of my sisters who sometimes forget that they did not give birth to me themselves, Didi Malika, and Scheherazade, and also for the kind soul that is my little brother, Saif Yamani Khan Ishoof. I am also grateful for the love of my grandparents some in heaven some on this earth. Of my friends enough cannot be written, especially my kindred spirit Sunali and my twin Kathy, and the very special Asha. To the rest who I have not mentioned you know of my love. May the peace and blessings of God forever be upon you and those who come after you-Asalaam-wa-likum.

Answerers

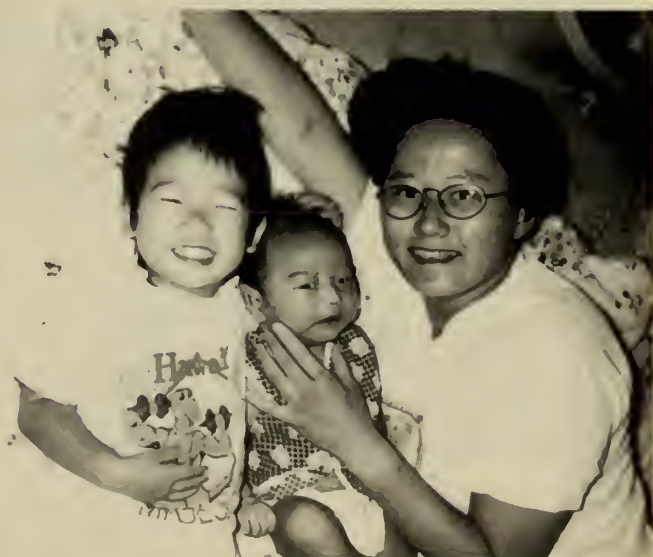

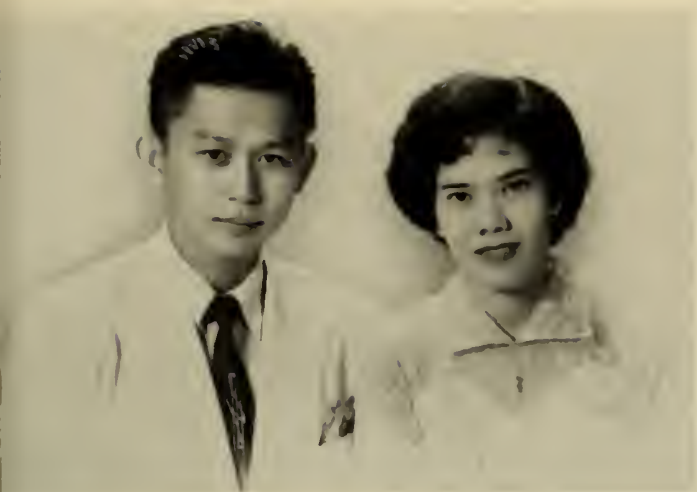

There are songs too wide for sound. There are quiet places where something stopped a long time ago and the days began to open their mouths toward nothing but the sky. We live in place of the many who stir only if we listen, only because the living live and call out. I am ready as all of us who wake at night: we become rooms for whatever almost is. It speaks in us, trying. And even if only by a note like this, we answer.

I believe in angels, that they're always hovering near, whispering encouragement whenever clouds appear; Protecting us from danger & showing us the way, performing little miracles within our lives each day. I dedicate this page to my guardian angels, in memory of family & friends who have passed in recent years.

To my family - Your constant love & support have always given me the strength & courage to follow my dreams. The goals which I have achieved & the success which I enjoy would have never been realized if it were not for all of you. Thank you for everything. I love you!

To Ed - I feel as if in some way we share this degree. You've been with me every step of the way on this winding path towards my dream, & your devotion has been phenomenal. I couldn't have done it without you! XOXO

To my friends - You are some of the finest people I have ever had the pleasure & privilege to know. We share memories I'll always cherish. I wish you all the best that the world has to offer!

When the Past is Gone

Together as we've watched the time go by I've learned a lot of things and have grown so much inside

When I think about the years gone by it's gone too fast
But I'll never forget the past

The memories that I've made both good and bad
And all of those who helped me get to where I am,
I've made it through the hard times and now I know
I'll always make it through
And I'm thankful for the love I get from you

There is so much more to come
Now that it's over, it's just begun
I hope and pray that when I'm through
I will have done all that I can do

When the past is gone and friends go separate ways
It's time to start a whole new life
Time to face the real world now and I know I'm scared
But I know that I'll be all right

Lord, make me an instrument of Your peace
 Where there is hatred, let me sow love
 Where there is injury, pardon
 Where there is doubting, let me bring Your faith
 Where there is despairing, let me bring Your warmth
 Where there is darkness, Your light
 And where there is sadness, let me bring Your joy Oh, Divine Master, grant that I might seek
 Not so much to be consoled as to console
 To be understood as to understand
 And not so much to be loved as to love another
 For it is in giving that we now receive
 It is in pardoning that we are now pardoned
 And it is in dying that we are now born again
 Lord, make me an instrument of Your peace

Reneé Marie Turchi, M.D.

John J. Urzi, M.D.

My parents Mami & Papi: How can I ever begin to thank you for all the love and support. To have parents so supportive and caring has helped me to succeed in all I do. You taught me to work hard but to always see the humor and to be driven but to always be sensitive to others. Above all, to maintain a sense of morality, ethics, and family. The balance of humor, sensitivity, morality, ethics, and family are values I learned at home from the best teachers. I love you Mami & Papi.

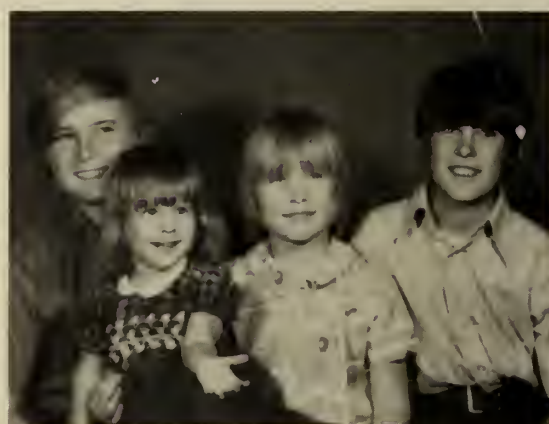

My adopted Philadelphia family: Itty Bitty, Mom, Pop, Kel, & Col: Thank you guys for always being my constant supporters and loudest cheerleaders. Including me in your family has made these years bearable and I thank God for putting the Carbines in my life. Love you all. P.S. Hey Mom "It's a TU-MOR".

My best friends Patti & Ed: We made it!!! Our friendship has withstood the grueling phone bills and daily angst that was medical school. Are you ready for the challenge of residency??!! Your never ending support and friendship have comforted me at some of the bleakest periods of my life and I thank you for always being there. Love you both.

Milagros Mercedes Vidot, M.D.

Kristina Marie Vogel, M.D.

Terry Wang, D.M.D., M.D.

Thank You to My Mentors & Teachers, My Family, and My Friends

Without Your Support & Encouragement I
Would Not Have Had the Knowledge, Strength, or Ambition to Succeed in this Endeavor . . .

With Love, Jennifer

know that...

"The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom,
And the knowledge of the Holy One is understanding."

Proverbs 9: 10

"Blessed is the one who finds wisdom,
And the one who gains understanding,
For its profit is better than the profit of silver,
And its gain than fine gold.
She is more precious than jewels;
And nothing you desire compares with her.
Long life is in her right hand;
In her left hand are riches and honor.
Her ways are pleasant ways,
And all her paths are peace.
She is a tree of life to those who take hold of her,
And happy are all who hold her fast.

Proverbs 3: 13-18

The Oath of Hippocrates (Modern)

I SOLEMNLY SWEAR OR AFFIRM, by whatever I hold most sacred;

That I will be loyal to the profession of medicine and just and generous to its members;

That I will lead my life and practice my art in uprightness and in honor;

That into whatsoever house I shall enter, it shall be for the good of the sick to the utmost of my power, holding myself far aloof from wrong, from corruption, from the tempting of others to vice;

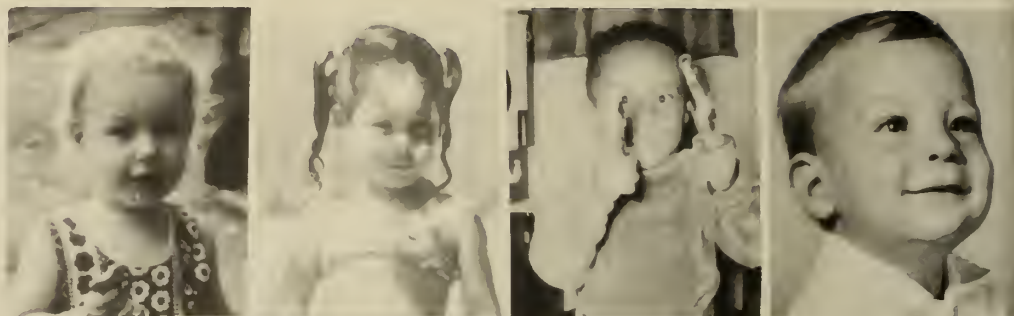

That I will exercise my art solely for the benefit of my patients, and will give no drug, or perform no operation, for a criminal purpose, even if solicited, far less suggest it;

That whatsoever I shall see or hear of the lives of patients which is not fitting to be spoken, I will keep inviolably secret.

These things I do swear or affirm.

Signs of the Times

We have participated in a very dynamic period in our institution's history.

If it seems that things are changing faster than you can keep up with them, sometimes they are.

The faculty, housestaff, hospitals and, yes, even the name of our school have been transformed. This yearbook may not be a snapshot of our school as it is now.

It was organized to capture the most poignant people and moments. We hope you enjoy them.

Recipients of the Class of 1998 Golden Apple Awards

Increasing our skill and ability to treat patients is a lifelong, fascinating journey. Understanding the interrelationship between the patient and his disease and the effects of the social, economic, and physical environment is a never-ending quest and gratification. No physician can ask more of his destiny. Nor should he be satisfied with less.

Words cannot adequately describe my love and admiration for you, Dr. Kott. You worked so hard to achieve your goals and your commitment to me never wavered, for this I am so grateful. I look forward to our future. Briano - I'm so proud of you. Love, Julie

Just a short time ago it seems you rode on my shoulders, swam, biked and played through a fun-filled youth. In the teen years we hiked, skied, mountain-climbed and we were buddies. You made difficult choices and set high standards for your education, which has led to medicine. I am proud of your accomplishments and congratulate you on becoming a doctor. I'm proud of who you've become; thoughtful and caring with a strong Christian faith to guide you though life. Brian, what a pleasure it has been for me to be your father. With love, Dad

We've had a special relationship and have shared Eagle Scouts, church retreats, band trips and European travels. I just hope you learn to keep up with me on the ski slopes!! I am proud Christ is the center of your life and I wish you His guidance in your medicine. I love you Sweet Brian, Mom xxooovv

Uncle Brian, you're really cool. Will you be our doctor and come play trains with us?
Love, David & Jacob

Littlest Wonder, way to go on accomplishing so much in medical School. I know you'll be a great doc, both with your new skills and your heart for people's needs. Nice job! We'll be back in the mountains before you know it!
☺ Steve

My little brother Bri-Bri is a doctor! I am so proud of you and impressed with how you took on the challenge of Med-School. When you come home I'll drill your teeth and you can care for my aches and pains. You're my high-fiving trafficking partner! Niiice...Choo. Love, Amy

I am very proud and excited for you and look forward to placing the hood on you at your graduation. Your dedication and hard work has paid off. A new and exciting journey is about to begin. Your faith and family are your stronghold! I love you very much and I am proud to have my brother as a colleague in medicine! Choo! Love, Betsy

Congratulations big guy! It's great to have an older brother set the bar high for accomplishments. I look forward to being with you at your graduation and to many great times ahead. Can't wait for you and Julie to move back to this side of the country. Eric

Iatrian in Years Gone By

The first yearbook of the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania, The Scalpel, was printed in 1911.

The Iatrian was actually a school magazine, its name being derived from the Greek work "iatros," meaning physician. The last issue of the magazine (June 1914) was printed as a "Senior Number" dedicated to the Class of 1914. An editorial in the previous issue described it as "a large double number, devoted... to personalities and events dear to 1914, interesting we hope to alumnae and students as was The Scalpel of 1911." That would make it the "first" Iatrian yearbook, which did not begin as an annual yearbook until 1956.

Traditionally, graduating student portraits and biographies have been included, along with class histories and highlights, organizations and activities. We hope that the 1998 issue of The Iatrian will provide you with lasting memories of your medical school years at the Medical College of Pennsylvania. Our office wishes you success in all of your future endeavors.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

On behalf of the Iatrian Staff, I would like to extend my gratitude to:

Marie Hartman in the Office of Student Affairs for her invaluable support, advice and help in solving various problems.

Michelle Strain in the Department of Medicine, MCP for her encouragement and help.

Dr. Steven Peitzman for his assistance in obtaining information on the history of the school.

Kit Kelly in MCP's Educational Media Office for providing us with the class composite.

Christine Erb in MCP's Communications Department for her timely designing of announcements.

Christine Farrel of the Alumnae/ i Association for facilitating their contribution.

Maria Leuzzi in the Provost's Office for providing us with a complete faculty list.

Darren Fehring for his unwavering support, his time, patience and the use of his home.

Shobha Sharma without whom the baby picture pages would never have been completed on time.

The Class Presidents: Mike Lazar, Sloane Polillo, and Nicole Bloom for their constant support of the yearbook staff and the personal time devoted to the yearbook's success.

The Registrar's Office for furnishing us with the Residency List.

The Student Government Association for their indispensable financial assistance.

The Archives and Special Collections on Women in Medicine for their assistance with the historical pages and for the use of their wonderful photographs.

All of our Sponsors for their well wishes and financial support.

Phil Klein and the entire staff at Jostens for producing this historical yearbook of the last class of the Medical College of Pennsylvania.

My special thanks to dependable Sydney Shrader, who selflessly sacrificed her time and more to ensure the successful completion of this special IATRIAN. I appreciate you, Sydney.

YEARBOOK DEDICATION

MARIE HARTMAN

Throughout our time as medical students we have had important people act as advisors, mentors, organizers, supporters, friends, and cheering sections. Few people could have played more than one role at a time. But there is one person who has been all of these things to many of us. Since the first day at Orientation, Marie Hartman has been there for us giving her support with a smile. She has always offered her advice, her ear for listening, and her heart for sharing. Let's face it, if there's ever a question about life at MCP, we all know Marie's door is always open! And so, for all of her outstanding work on our behalf, for all of the events she planned, for all of her attempts to make our lives easier while we made hers more challenging, for being there as advisor, mentor, and most importantly as a friend, we thank you Marie!

"Some people come into our lives and quickly go while others stay for a while and leave footprints on our hearts and we are never, ever the same."

As we enter our careers as physicians, the Class of 1998 thanks you, Marie Hartman, for leaving an impression on our hearts. We will remember you with fondness and appreciation. You have helped each of us grow as physicians and human beings.

To express our gratitude, we dedicate the 1998 Iatريان to you, with all our love.
